HULSE DETENTION CENTER CELEBRATES NATIONAL TEACHER'S APPRECIATION WEEK

On May 8th, the Juvenile Probation & Detention Services Division celebrated National Teacher's Appreciation Week with an event recognizing teachers and teachers' assistants at the Hulse Detention Center. Teachers were presented with cards made and signed by the residents of the FACE-IT (Family and Community Engaged in Treatment) Residential Program, cards signed by staff, a gift bag, and an apple with breakfast to add to the celebration.

Teacher's Appreciation Week is held the first full week in May each year; the Tuesday of that week is designated National Teacher Day. The National Education Association describes National Teacher Day "as a day for honoring teachers and recognizing the lasting contributions they make to our lives."

"We greatly appreciate the dedication and professionalism of our teachers and teachers' assistants, who work year-around serving the county's youth at the Hulse Detention Center," said Chief Judge Jorge Ortiz.
